

History of Wreningham Community Archaeology Project

Test-pitting on 11th-12th August 2018 – join in and dig a test pit in your garden!

The test-pit training day on 29th July was cancelled due to heavy rain.

There will be a new opportunity to learn how to dig an archaeological test-pit at 7pm on Tuesday 7th August, on the playing field on Mill Road, opposite the school and village hall.

Bring a spade, trowel and hefty boots! If anyone has an old garden sieve or two, you will find them handy too.

Tuition will be given in the art of effective archaeological digging (for beginners!) ready for your own investigation in August.

The playing field is on the edge of an old common, a popular place for settlement in the medieval period, so there is a fair chance we may find something interesting!

Everybody is welcome
